S. Paige Abasolo, a Guidance Counselor at Kersey Creek Elementary School, has been selected as the recipient of the 2012 Superintendent’s Professional Development Scholarship. A $1,000 scholarship was presented to Abasolo during the January 10, 2012, Hanover County School Board Meeting.

Established in 1999 by the Hanover Education Foundation, the scholarship is awarded to a teacher who strives to heighten the experiences within her classroom through significant professional development opportunities. Funds from this scholarship are awarded annually for tuition, books, travel and other activities related to experiences that can be shared to enhance the knowledge of students within Hanover County.

Abasolo intends to use the scholarship to attend the 6th Annual National Conference on Girl Bullying that is scheduled to be held during June in Atlanta, Georgia. The conference will focus on social and cultural factors of bullying and how it is unique to females. Following the conference, Abasolo will participate in training sessions and workshops to share the information that she will receive during the three-day event this summer.
